

Project: CRAYON

What is Project: Crayon?

Project: Crayon was created by F&M Bank & Trust in efforts to help to get area elementary schools the supplies they need in the classroom. The Farmers & Merchants Community Foundation was created due to the success of Project: Crayon. The F&M Community Foundation can now partner with corporations and apply for grants to bring larger donations to our schools.

What is the goal of Project: Crayon?

The goal is to give elementary teachers a bag of classroom supplies. With this donation, the teachers can distribute those supplies to the students in need without the teachers having to spend their money on supplies. As Project: Crayon grows middle schools and high schools will be helped.

How can I help?

Helping is easy. Purchase supplies and drop them off at any F&M Bank & Trust location. Monetary donations are accepted. We would also like to partner with groups and churches to hold special events.

Which school receive donations?

All Burlington, West Burlington, and Mediapolis elementary schools as well as Notre Dame and Great River Christian Schools.

Can I specify my donation to a particular school?

Yes. If you are making a monetary donation.

Where do I take my donations?

To any of the F&M Bank & Trust walk-in or drive-thru locations. They are located in Burlington and West Burlington.

What do the schools need?

Just about any school supply available including crayons, markers, glue, scissors, and more!

Can I give cash instead of items?

Yes. Make checks payable to Project: Crayon and we will buy the school supplies for you.

Is my donation tax deductible?

The Farmers and Merchants Community Foundation is a 501 (c) 3. Check with your accountant to inquire on the details of what portion of your donation is considered tax deductible.
